

Picking the best food for your pet

At Royal Canin we believe that kibbles are unique for every specific breed, need, age and size of your pet.

Because your pet is unique
so is our kibble

Did you know that?

Our state-of-the-art drying system ensures that every kibble has a consistent and even level of moisture, with little chance of moulding. This includes in- depth sampling of each product and final quality tests using the NIRS system that meets precision in nutritional requirements.

All nutrients in the pet food add value to the food, including carbohydrates, proteins and nutrients coming from grains, which provide fiber and other nutrients. Fibre is very important in the diet to maintain the health of gastrointestinal tract, while other nutrients contribute to healthy skin and a healthy coat.

Royal Canin nutritional diet is based on over 45 years of science and research and provide you only the best for your cats and dogs.
